Diseases and Deformaties, by Edmund P. Banning, M. D. 15th edition.

This interesting and useful treatise will be much sought after by families. It is a plain and elaborate embodisment of Dr. Banning's public lectures on these aubjects, which have every where excited so much attention, especially in this city and State. Its style is familiar and terse, and its views on physical education, preservation of health, cure of chronic weakness and deformatica, are original, adapted to the comprehension of all, and present these bittherto forlorn and hopeless maladies in a new and most hopeful light. The two lectures on dress and the human voice are worth lectures of the lectures of the lead to him the lecture of the lead to him the lecture of the lead to him the lead to him the letter of the lead to him him the lead to him him him to him him him him to him him him him him him him him him

From Paris, June 12, "Americus" writes to the N. Y. Commercial:

The distribution of pitzes at the great Agricultural Exhibition took places day before yesterday, and like United States, as usual, draw pitzes on everything which she presented for serious competition—numbering fixes objects. Pittle's Buffalo threshing ma bine drew a first class medal, and has been sold to the Emperor for 2,200 Itanes; Manny's reaper drew a first-class medal; a barrel of Col. Alston's (South Carolina) rice, de; McComick's teaper, worked by Frenchmen, a second class medal; a speciment of anomelody's pepperomint essence of New York, an inferior medal.
